The home team's new battery, Leach and Smith, from Washington, D. C., who arrived here this morning, covered themselves with glory. Leach pitched a magnificent game, holding the visitors down to four hits, while his command of the ball and his head work were almost perfect. He also struck out nine of the visitors—quite an unusual thing from the sixty foot box. Smith cought perfectly, and his throwing Smith caught perfectly, and his throwing to bases was magnificent. The crowd soon recognized the excellent work of the new battery, and gave them liberal ap-plause. Enright, who made quite a repu-tation as a kicker, and "Puss" Luck filled the points for the visitors, and, be it said to their credit, they did fine work. In fact, "Mike" pitched the game of his life, holding the home boys down to seven hits, and he was splendidly supported by

RECEIVE THE FEES.

A Raid Upon a Disorderly House, and a Controversy Between the Justices ... A interesting controversy is on between the justices of the peace of this city as to their right to fees for issuing warrants was made upon two houses in the upper part of the city, and fifty colored women were arrested, charged with disorderly conduct. In the police court Justice L. Frank East fined each of them one dollar and costs. The cost included fees for the patrol wagon, high constable and Justice O. J. Dalton, who appeared at o'clock, and issued warrants for the ar-rest of the parties after they were locked up; Justice East, who tried the cases, and the city clerk, making out a total charge of four dollars and fifty cents, Justice Dalton's part of the cost would amount to twenty-five dollars. This morning he was informed that the police justice had stated that he would not allow him the amount.

Mr. Dalton was indignant, and said that

The mayor said neither of them had right to the money. That he ordered the police to raid the places, and that he issued a warrant, and the only war-rant necessary, for which no charge could be made. That neither Mr. East could be made. That neither Mr. Eas nor Mr. Dalton had a right to issue war rants for persons already in the custody of the police authorities. That the amount to be paid by each of the parties was two dollars—one dollar fine, fifty cents for the trial justice and fifty cents for the patrol wason. The full amount of $4.50 was however, churged.

The improvements were made to meet the demands of modern banking, and transaction of business. The counters and partitions separating the various departments are of handsomely polished oak, brass and iron, and the fittings are of the most modern style.

The entire equipment has been made with an eye to convenience and comfort, and the result is highly satisfactory. It is safe to say that the National Bank of Virginia is not surpassed by any bank
